Navigating though the Seas

Patients often present with complex risk factors that are associated with esthetic, phonetic and functional demands that will tax the restorative team. Patient evaluation of these risk factors allows for improved patient management, assessment of patient expectations and providing high quality predictable dental care. This lecture series will focus on general patient assessment for esthetics and phonetics combined with critical assessments for tooth position, size and key features to identify in your treatment plan to provide predictable esthetic outcomes.

Discussion will involve early interventions to assist in reducing sensitivity when bleaching; caries management strategies prior, during and following complex prosthodontic procedures; as well as full coverage restorations with an emphasis on all ceramic systems.

Key West, Florida

The capital of "The Conch Republic" is awash in sun, and home to part of the only coral reef ecosystem in the United States. This collection of sandy outcroppings was once a haven for rum smugglers and individuals shunning the lime-light. Ernest Hemingway's Key West abode and haunts alone are worth the trip.

Cozumel, Mexico

Cozumel has been called the gem of the Mexican Caribbean. The island is located approximately twelve miles off the southern coast of the Yucatán Peninsula, just across from Playa del Carmen. The waters and coral reefs off Cozumel are world-renowned as a diving destination.
