The College of Dentistry & Dental Clinics Hosts Faculty from Chongqing Medical University School of Stomatology

On May 23-24, 2017, faculty from the Chongqing Medical University School of Stomatology visited the College of Dentistry. The visit was arranged after Drs. Liu Hong, Prosthodontics and Dental Research; Preventive & Community Dentistry DEO Dan Caplan; Dean David Johnsen; Dean Ping Ji; Dr. Dan Jiang, director of dental education; Dr. Hongmei Zhang, director of dental research; and Dr. Xi Chen, Preventive & Community Dentistry.

These trips have been an effort to establish potential research and educational collaborations between the two schools. Educational collaborations may include having Chinese graduate students or faculty from the School of Stomatology visit the College of Dentistry for training, or third-year College of Dentistry dental students visiting the Chinese School of Stomatology for portions of their extramural rotations.

The Chinese faculty visit included breakfasts as well as lunches the first and second days, a welcome ceremony at the College of Dentistry, and a dinner, which was held at Brown Deer Golf Club in Coralville.

Dr. Peter Damiano Participates in a Health Affairs Forum

Dr. Peter Damiano, Preventive & Community Dentistry, and director of the Public Policy Center (PCC) and the PPC’s Health Policy Research Program, recently participated in a Health Affairs forum: Oral Health in California, which was held on May 17. The forum examined the current landscape of oral health in the state, highlighted key articles from the Health Affairs special issue, and paid particular attention to the oral health safety net for California’s adults.

Dr. Steve Vincent is Installed as President of the American Academy of Oral and Maxillofacial Pathology

Emeritus Professor Steve Vincent, Oral Pathology, Radiology & Medicine, was installed as president of the American Academy of Oral and Maxillofacial Pathology at the annual meeting, which was held in Newport, Rhode Island, April 29-May 3.

In addition to many other duties, he is working with the Academy’s executive director to plan next year’s combined meeting with the International Academy of Oral Pathology; it will be held June 23-28, 2018, in Vancouver, British Columbia. In addition, Steve continues to work as a member of the A.D.A. Joint Commission on National Dental Examinations, Committee for an Integrated Examination.

Dr. Julie Reynolds Participates in the 2017 Dental Quality Alliance Conference

Dr. Julie Reynolds, Preventive & Community Dentistry, and a researcher in the Public Policy Center’s (PCC) Health Policy Research Program, participated in the 2017 Dental Quality Alliance Conference, which was hosted by the American Dental Association in Chicago on May 12-13.

The purpose of the conference was for professionals to gain knowledge on the need for and the goals of measurement to support quality improvement in oral healthcare, explore strategies for successfully leading and influencing healthcare improvement through measurement in dentistry, and examine emerging trends in quality measurement and leadership across the dental care continuum.

According to Dr. Reynolds, the conference aligns with the PPC’s Patient-Centered Dental Home (PCDH) project that is focused on creating a method for recognizing dental practices by aligning dental quality metrics to desirable characteristics of a dental home.

More information about the PCDH is available at http://ppc.uiowa.edu/health/study/patient-centered-dental-home-pcdh-project.

WHERE DID YOU GROW UP?
West Branch, IA – I am part owner of our family’s Century Farm.

WHAT KIND OF MUSIC DO YOU ENJOY?
I love to sing jazz (but I don’t care too much to listen to it). I enjoy listening to many genres of music but my favorite channel on XM radio is The Pulse.

SOME OF YOUR PERSONAL INTERESTS OR HOBBIES:
Singing – I love to sing, but don’t do it as much as I would like to; scrapbooking via Shutterfly; sewing; and playing cribbage.

HOW WOULD YOU DESCRIBE YOUR SENSE OF HUMOR?
Snarky & punny. Jokes about German sausage are the wurst!

WHAT DO YOU ENJOY ABOUT WORKING AT THE COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY?
I love the camaraderie; we are like a small town/huge family full of care for each other.

IF YOU COULD VISIT WITH THREE FAMOUS PEOPLE, WHO WOULD THEY BE?
Eckhart Tolle, Mother Teresa & Sam Elliott.

WHAT IS SOMETHING PEOPLE DON’T KNOW ABOUT YOU?
I am a birthright Quaker (a.k.a. Friend), which means I’m a pacifist (with an attitude and limits). My maternal grandmother was a minister during a time when women in church leadership wasn’t valued by others. This taught me to believe that a woman’s worth is equal to a man’s.

WHAT ADVICE WOULD YOU GIVE TO DENTAL STUDENTS?
Be grateful for your intelligence and opportunities; not everyone is that fortunate. Seek to be patient and keep from judging patients. Measure your success, not by the size of your paycheck and all that it buys, but by how well you live your life.

Hieronymus Fabricius ab Aquapendente (ca. 1533-1619). De visione, voce, auditu. 3 pts. in 1 vol. Venice: Per Franciscum Bolzettam, 1600.

One of the great Paduan anatomists and teachers, pupil of Fallopius, teacher of Harvey, and friend of Galileo, Fabricius built at his own expense the anatomical theater at Padua, which is still preserved intact. During his long life, he produced a number of important works on anatomy, embryology, and physiology, characterized by numerous large, clear copperplate illustrations which long remained unexcelled. The major portion of this work on the organs of vision, speech, and hearing is devoted to the eye, and it is clear that Fabricius was one of the first to grasp the true form and proper location of the lens. Although his description of the ear is sound, it contributed no new knowledge about the ear or the sense of hearing. An extremely competent comparative anatomist, he was at his best in dealing with the laryngeal apparatus.
