Dr. Fabricio Teixeira to Lecture at the USC Sixteenth International Endodontic Symposium in California

Dr. Fabricio Teixeira, head of the Department of Endodontics, will be one of eight invited speakers for the Sixteenth International Endodontic Symposium, “Clinical and Biological Concepts of Modern Endodontics.” The symposium will be held by the Herman Ostrow School of Dentistry at the University of Southern California (USC) on December 9, 2017.

There will be a Special Celebration of Life honoring Dr. John I. Ingle who Dr. Teixeira describes as having been “a great leader in Endodontics and a gentleman.” Dr. Ingle passed away this year; Dr. Teixeira notes it will be a privilege to participate at a meeting in his honor.

Internationally renowned experts from Germany, Italy, and the U.S. will present the most recent advances in the field. The program will include updates on current hot topics in endodontics and advanced treatment modalities, as well as insight into the future of endodontics.

Drs. Arwa Owais and Satheesh Elangovan Attend ADA Workshop

Drs. Arwa Owais, Department of Pediatric Dentistry, and Satheesh Elangovan, Department of Periodontics, attended an intensive two-and-one-half day inaugural, hands-on workshop on systematic reviews and meta-analysis, which was organized by the American Dental Association (ADA). It was held in Chicago on November 2-4, 2017.

“It was great to acquire the skills needed to better understand primary studies and the principles of the systematic review methodology, which is a great tool in clinical decision making,” said Dr. Owais. Dr. Elangovan concurred: “This workshop is one of the most organized and effective ones I ever attended that not only expanded my research armamentarium but also provided a lot of effective teaching tips.”

Drs. Owais and Elangovan both thank Dr. Teresa Marshall, Department of Preventive Dentistry, whose Michael W. Finkelstein Centennial Teaching Professorship supported them to attend what they describe as an “incredibly useful workshop.”

For those seeking funds to attend similar educational opportunities, please contact Dr. Teresa Marshall.

CMRF Pilot Project Seed Grant Program

The University of Iowa Office of the Vice President for Research and Economic Development offers a Pilot Project Seed Grant Program to encourage researchers to use the Central Microscopy Research Facility (CMRF) to help secure further external funding. Proposals must be submitted by December 8, 2017, and awards of up to $1,000 in instrument and labor fees will be announced December 29, 2017 after consideration by a review committee. Unused funding expires June 30, 2018.

Funds provided through the Pilot Project Seed Grant Program may be used by faculty to develop new research directions, make use of instrumentation they have not previously utilized, or employ new applications of instrumentation—all with the purpose of securing proof of concept and generating data to be used to pursue external funding for their work. Awardees will be required to file a progress report and submit the proposal to an external agency within a year of the Seed Grant award.

To be considered for a grant under the program, fill out and submit the online application form along with supporting documentation.

The CMRF, supported by the Office of the Vice President for Research and Economic Development, provides resources and support to researchers and scholars at the University of Iowa and to businesses across Iowa with the goal of forging new frontiers of discovery and innovation and promoting a culture of creativity that benefits the campus, the state, and the world. Grateful Campaign a Success at College of Dentistry

“The benefits of practicing gratitude are nearly endless. People who regularly practice gratitude by taking time to notice and reflect upon the things they’re thankful for experience more positive emotions, feel more alive, sleep better, express more compassion and kindness, and even have stronger immune systems.”  https://my.happify.com/hd/the-science-behind-gratitude/

The Office of Student Affairs is thankful for you! Sarah Kelly & Rachael Kowbel, Director of Dental Student Admissions, hosted a Grateful Campaign soliciting feedback from students, staff, & faculty across the college. Sarah and Rachael will utilize the photos in recruitment messaging this season. We thought you’d enjoy the photos, too! ”
